Section B – Novels

Select EITHER I, II OR III from Section B and answer all the questions given below it.

- I. Read the following extract from The Prince and the Pauper and answer all the questions given below it.

“I tell ye again, you pack of unmannerly curs, I am the Prince of Wales! And all forlorn and friendless as I be, with none to give me word of grace or help me in my need, yet will not I be driven from my ground, but will maintain it!”

'Though thou be prince or no prince, 'tis all one, thou be'st a gallant lad, and not friendless neither! Here stand I by thy side to prove it; and mind I tell thee thou might'st have a worser friend than Miles Hendon and yet not tire thy legs with seeking. Rest thy small jaw, my child, I talk the language of these base kennel-rats like to a very native.'

The speaker was a sort of Don Caesar de Bazan in dress, aspect, and bearing. He was tall, trim-built, muscular. His doublet and trunks were of rich material, but faded and threadbare, and their gold-lace adornments were sadly tarnished; his ruff was rumpled and damaged; the plume in his slouched hat was broken and had a bedraggled and disreputable look; at his side he wore a long rapier in a rusty iron sheath; his swaggering carriage marked him at once as a ruffler of the camp. The speech of this fantastic figure was received with an explosion of jeers and laughter. Some cried, 'Tis another prince in disguise!' 'Ware thy tongue, friend, belike he is dangerous!' 'Marry, he looketh it—mark his eye!' 'Pluck the lad from him—to the horse-pond wi' the cub!'

- (i) When and where does this incident occur?

.....

.....

.....

- (ii) How does Miles Hendon introduce himself to the prince? (02 marks)

.....

.....

.....

.....

- (iii) Explain the meanings of the following phrases as they occur in the passage: (02 marks)

- (a) talk the language of these base kennel-rats

.....

- (b) had a bedraggled and disreputable look (01 mark)

.....

- (iv) What impression of Miles Hendon do you get from his appearance and words? To what theme of the novel can you relate this impression?

.....

.....

.....

.....

- II. Read the following extract from Bringing Tony Home and answer all the questions given below it.

"I set off immediately after lunch and once more my heart started pounding because at a particular point in the gravel road along which I had to walk to reach the macadam road I could see across another compound to the rear of Proctor Gunawardana's house and I looked down and walked briskly and I was sick with tension. I had cleared the little climb just before the path joined the main road and was feeling relieved, when it happened. First I heard a faint whining sound and I closed my eyes immediately, and then there was the sound of rushing dog's feet and something fell heavily against my legs. I opened my eyes and there at my feet lay Tony with upturned paws in that gesture of canine loyalty and affection. It was Tony and also not Tony. The dog who lay at my feet wriggling and moaning in a trance of affection was not the Tony I knew, not the dog with that beautiful coat who always smelled good and clean; this was a sick dog with sores all over; tufts of fur stood among patches of red skin through which the bones showed. I squatted by his side and stroked his head; only the face remained the same as ever, the fluffy ears, the cream coloured head with a light brown shadow over the perfectly sculptured muzzle, and the same soft and gentle eyes which now kept looking at me eagerly and expectantly in pools of bubbling love."

- (i) When and where does this incident take place?

.....

.....

III. Read the following extract from The Vendor of Sweets and then answer all the questions given below it.

“The doctor made an impatient gesture, and said, ‘Go back, go back to your wife for the few hours left. Your son is watching us. Protect him.’

Turning back from the car, Jagan saw Mali at the door with bewilderment in his eyes. It was harrowing to look at his thin, scraggy frame (he developed and grew tall and broad suddenly after his eighteenth birthday). The boy asked, “What did the doctor say?” He had been attending on his mother for many weeks now. In her rare moments of lucidity she beckoned to him, and accepted the diet if he fed her. He came running home from school in order to feed her, rarely going out to play with his friends. At the boy’s question, Jagan lost his nerve completely, held his son’s hands, and broke into a loud wail. Mali had shaken himself off and watched his father from a distance with a look of dismay and puzzlement.

Even with the passage of time, Jagan never got over the memory of that moment. The coarse, raw pain he had felt at the sight of Mali on that fateful day remained petrified in some vital centre of his being. From that day, the barrier had come into being. The boy had ceased to speak to him normally.”

(i) When and where does this situation take place?

.....

(ii) How did Mali look after his mother? (02 marks)
